Help and Support The Armitt Collection

Revised 28.04.18

What is the Armitt?

Founded in Ambleside in 1912 through the will of Mary Armitt, one of three gifted, public-spirited sisters, the Armitt has grown into a library, museum and gallery of interest not just locally or even nationally, but internationally. Thanks to the generosity of the Armitt sisters and many other benefactors, famous and less well-known, but who all shared a love of the Lake District and its heritage, the Armitt today is a distinctive collection comprising many thousands of books, photographs, prints, maps, fine art and artefacts relating to this area.

We can also see in the Armitt the marriage of art and science in Beatrix Potter's beautiful watercolours of fungi, works by émigré artist and inventor of MERZ, Kurt Schwitters, and original papers relating to the pioneering educational work of Harriet Martineau and Charlotte Mason.

All-in-all, the Armitt is a unique treasure, and deserves all our support!

Who are the Friends of the Armitt?

We exist to support the Armitt Collection and encourage research and general interest in the Lake District. Amongst the many ways we help are by:

- ❖ assisting in the purchase of additions to the collection;
- ❖ sponsoring specific projects by the Armitt Trust;
- ❖ providing a forum and interest group for the many volunteers who put so much time into the Armitt; and
- ❖ helping to publicise the Armitt.

Friends benefit from:

- ❖ FREE ENTRY where charges are made;
- ❖ invitations to attend special Friends' events including private views, visits to places of interest and social events;
- ❖ the chance to meet like-minded people who share an enthusiasm for ensuring that this unique collection flourishes.
